Emotion-Based School Avoidance

Please click on:

<https://schoolavoidance.org/school-avoidance-101/> to view a school avoidance website, which includes an outline of what defines school avoidance, an assessment tool scale for students, schools and parents. The website also contains advice and guidance, further information, suggested interventions and treatment.

Another example of a School Refusal Assessment Scale is available on Twinkl, to view this resource, click here.

NEXT PAGE BOOKS is a small, independent children's bookshop in Hitchin, Herts. with BIG ideas. A partnership between a children's publishing expert and a teacher/Senco. They stock children's books from baby to young adult and everything in between. We also have a small but perfectly formed selection for grown-ups and we can order pretty much any book that's currently in print.

We specialise in books that support and celebrate diversity in all its forms, and particularly neurodiversity. We search out books with characters who are autistic, have dyslexia or ADHD, are anxious about school, or who have difficulties with communication and much more! We work with individuals, families, schools and libraries to make sure you can find a book that speaks to you.
